

COVID-19 FAQ:

2020 National Agriculture in the Classroom Conference, June 23-26, Little America Hotel, Salt Lake City, Utah

All activities and dates will be reviewed and updated based on CDC and Governmental Policies.

Q: Will the conference be held?

A: Yes! We have every intention (as of 3/27/2020) to host an amazing conference as currently scheduled.

Q: What will happen if the conference cannot be held during the original dates?

A: If the conference cannot be held during the original dates, it is unlikely it will be rescheduled or held virtually because of the nature of the workshop presentations and the number of registrants involved. A final decision about whether to hold the conference will be made by May 13, 2020.

Q: What is the plan if the conference IS cancelled?

Conference Registration - A: In the event of a total cancellation of the conference, registrants will be reimbursed their conference registration minus a small credit card processing fee.

Hotel reservations - A: Because hotel reservations are made by individuals attending the conference, individuals are responsible for cancelling their hotel reservations. Hotel reservations cancelled 24 hours before arrival do not incur a penalty. Contact the Little America Hotel reservation department by calling 800-437-5288. To book your hotel room, please visit

Q: I haven't registered yet. What should I do?

A: Go ahead and register for the conference by visiting <https://naitconference.usu.edu/Register.cfm>! The early bird registration deadline has been extended to May 15, 2020. Registration will remain at the lower rate of $435 until then.

Q. Should I book my flight to attend the conference?

A. Yes but pay close attention to the airline's cancellation policy. Each airline's cancellation policy is different.

For example, Southwest Airlines doesn't charge a cancellation fee, but it doesn't refund your money. You have to use the airfare of the cancelled flight toward another Southwest Airlines flight within one year of booking the cancelled flight.

Q: In the event that the NAITC Conference is cancelled, how will registrants be reimbursed?

A: In the event that the conference is cancelled, NAITC and its conference planner, USU Event Services, will begin processing reimbursements May 18, 2020, for conference registrants that have already paid.

Q: Who can I contact if I have questions?

A: You can always reach out to Lisa Gaskalla (lisa.gaskalla@naitco.org) or Amber Anderson (amber.anderson@usu.edu) for any questions that you may have.
